Dean Recalled From Geneva, May Not Return

TV CASUALTY—Frank Costello places hand on bleeding forehead as he sits in prison van yesterday in which he was transferred from federal custody to that of New York City authorities. Forehead was bumped by a television camera on the scene to record the racketeer's release from federal detention headquarters after serving term on income tax evasion conviction. He was promptly turned over to city police to serve brief term for contempt of court.

Dillon Sees '62 Boom, Possible Tax Reduction

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon predicted Tuesday that by next year "we may well be in the midst of an economic boom." He said a tax cut might result.

Dillon envisioned a federal budget surplus large enough to pave the way for lower taxes.

He told the National Press Club this bright future must be considered when discussing the federal deficits foreseen for the 1961 and 1962 fiscal years.

"It is probable that by this time next year our economy will be rolling in high gear," Dillon said.

He presented an impressive array of statistics in his speech. He said the gross national product, a figure measuring the country's total output of goods and services, would reach $515 billion this year. The total was $503 billion last year.

And he predicted "we can reasonably hope" to have a gross national product of $555 billion by the end of 1962.

A year of that kind, Dillon said, would give the federal government enough revenues "to meet all of our national needs, with something left over."

He detailed the budget situation this way: The deficit for the current fiscal year, which ends June 30, will be $3 billion. The deficit for the 1962 fiscal year, which begins July 1, will be $3.7 billion. This is based on predicted government revenues of $81.4 billion.

But Dillon said the expected boom year of 1962 would bring in $90 billion in revenues for the federal budget of the 1963 fiscal year.

U.S. A-Test Ban Negotiator Will Report To JFK

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States introduced a new element of drama into the East-West nuclear weapons test ban issue Tuesday. It ordered its top negotiator home for consultations and hinted he may not return to Geneva.

Whether Arthur H. Dean will return to the conference table depends on developments here and in Geneva, State Department press officer Lincoln White said.

Dean, the New York lawyer appointed by President Kennedy to head the U.S. contingent at Geneva, is due here Wednesday. He will report to the President and confer with Secretary of State Dean Rusk and with John J. McCloy, Kennedy's chief adviser on disarmament.

Break In Stalemate Unlikely

White voiced hope that progress at Geneva will justify Dean's return to the conference.

But a top-ranking official did not conceal the general sentiment that the conference appears to be hopelessly deadlocked and that there is little chance that the stalemate can be broken.

Officials said Soviet Premier Khrushchev, by proposing merger of the Geneva talks into the broader issue of general disarmament, virtually took the issue from the hands of the Geneva negotiators.

Negotiations Overlap

The United States rejected Khrushchev's suggestion last Saturday and told him this country could not observe indefinitely its present moratorium on nuclear testing.

Dean's recall was decided upon in part because the Geneva talks overlap U.S.-Soviet disarmament negotiations which started here Monday.

The United States has expressed hope the nuclear issue can be excluded from the Washington talks which — this country maintains — should deal only with questions of procedure in connection with a disarmament conference.

EICHMANN ON STAND — Adolf Eichmann, his mouth pinched for lack of teeth, testifies in his own defense at his trial in Jerusalem yesterday. ## Only Underling Taking Orders, Eichmann Says

JERUSALEM (AP) — Adolf Eichmann swore calmly Tuesday "in the name of the Almighty God" he had been only a bureaucratic taking orders and not the Nazis' key figure in the World War II extermination of six million Jews.

Testifying for the first time in his own defense before an Israeli court, the former chief of the Gestapo's Jewish Affairs Section said he was powerless to halt the "senseless measures" the Nazis launched against the Jews.

"I could not influence," he declared in measured German. "My status was too modest."

But he acknowledged he was an expert bureaucrat who carried complex train schedules and border regulations in his head as Nazi death trains sped across Europe collecting victims for the death camps.

For 10 weeks, Eichmann sat in his glass cage following testimony and taking notes as Israeli prosecutors hammered away at his contention that Eichmann was not merely a low-ranking bureaucrat but, in fact, the chief organizer of the slaughter.

When Eichmann got his chance to speak he promptly denied this. He also denied that he voluntarily accompanied his Israeli captors from Buenos Aires, Argentina, to Jerusalem last year for trial.

"I was chained to a bed after I was kidnapped in Buenos Aires and the kidnappers demanded that I sign a voluntary declaration that I wanted to stand trial in Israel," Eichmann said. "I said I preferred to be turned over to Argentine police. They said no. Later, the fetters were replaced and I was tied to my bed. This cannot be called a voluntary declaration."

These were the only details defense counsel Robert Servatius brought forth on Eichmann's capture. The West German lawyer started his case with his basic theme—that Eichmann was a mere cog in the Nazi organization.

"Those who sat in high places were responsible," Servatius said. "The defense will bring proof to the effect that the accused was not included in the political leadership but belonged to those receiving orders on the lowest rung."

Senate Passes Big Farm Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate shouted approval late Tuesday of a farm bill carrying more than $7 billion to operate the nation's far flung agricultural programs for the next 12 months.

The biggest agricultural bill in history now goes back to the House for consideration of Senate increases of nearly $115 million.

The only effort to whittle down the big farm bill—a move to chop $100 million from the long-term agricultural conservation payments to farmers next year—was beaten 64-26.

This left in effect a pledge of Congress to provide $250 million for payments to cooperating farmers for fertilizer, draining of marsh lands, planting of trees and other conservation practices in the various states.

As approved by the Senate, the bill included $5,967,437,500 in new cash, nearly $2 billion more than last year, some $19 million more than the House voted but still $121 million under budget estimates.

U.S.-Soviet Air Service Negotiations Scheduled

WASHINGTON (AP)—Prospects for direct commercial air service between the United States and the Soviet Union soared Tuesday with the announcement the two countries are planning to hold talks on the subject soon.

Under the proposals, Pan American Airways and Aeroflot, the government-owned Soviet airline, would fly the 5,000-mile route between New York and Moscow.

Air travelers going from one country to the other now have to stop at an intermediate point and change planes.

The State Department announced that in response to a U.S. suggestion, the Soviets proposed the negotiations get under way June 21.

The United States, whose commercial air experts are now involved in negotiations with other nations, asked for a delay to July 18. Moscow is expected to reply soon.

While a U.S.-Soviet air connection has been under consideration for several years, the two sides never have reached the negotiating table. Talks were once scheduled to begin last July. The United States canceled them at the last minute, after the Soviets shot down a U.S. RB47 reconnaissance bomber.

Chinese Reds Shun U.S. Idea To Quit Laos

Pullout Of Advisers As Neutralization Safeguard Rejected

GENEVA, (AP) — The United States offered Tuesday to pull its 300 military advisers out of Laos if the 14-nation Geneva conference sets up controls to guarantee the Communists follow suit.

The Chinese Communists immediately rejected this idea and other American proposals aimed at safeguarding Laotian neutrality.

A spokesman for the Peiping government called them an attempt to set up a superstate in the Southeast Asian kingdom.

He said the position taken by U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman could lead to a breakup of the conference and if the United States sticks to its latest line "it will certainly lead to a further outbreak of the Laotian war."

Harriman Offers Proposals

The Chinese reaction came at a briefing session after Harriman addressed the 20th session of the five-week-old conference.

The chief U.S. delegate put forth a series of proposals for clearing war-torn Laos of military forces and armaments. He wants to give the International Control Commission teams power to block any arms buildup. He submitted the proposals as supplements to a Western-backed plan introduced by the French June 6.

The flareup here was accompanied by these related developments:

1. Premier Prince Boun Oum submitted to a working committee of the Laotian princes' meeting in Zurich a proposed agenda including formation of a unified delegation to the Geneva conference, new National Assembly elections and problems of the cease-fire. Neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma was reported slightly ill and did not get together personally with Boun Oum and pro-Communist Prince Souphanouvong.

2. Military sources in Vientiane said seven companies of pro-Communist troops, backed by mortars, have driven progovernment Meo tribal militiamen from Mt. Pou San in a four-day offensive launched last Friday. The mile-high peak is about 20 miles north of the rebel-held Plain de Jarres. The Meos were reported to have dispersed into the jungles. There were no details on casualties.

Congo Parliament Will Meet Sunday

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—The way was cleared Tuesday for the Congo's Parliament, idle nine months, to meet Sunday in the relative calm of a university campus for an effort to form a unified government.

Six members representing the rival regimes of President Joseph Kasavubu and Antoine Gizenga, Communist-backed heir of the slain Patrice Lumumba, announced agreement that the legislators should reconvene that day at Lovanium University, on heights 12 miles outside the capital.

"We are on the eve of national reconciliation," Deputy Premier Jean Bolikongo of Kasavubu's government declared in a broadcast.

The school, originally a branch of the Louvain Roman Catholic University in Belgium, has become the Congo's Roman Catholic University.

Kennedy To Discard His Crutches In Two Days

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's physician and two specialists examined the chief executive late Tuesday and said he would be able to discard his crutches in two days.

They said his progress is satisfactory.

The examination was by Dr. Janet Travell, White House physician; Dr. Preston Wade, New York orthopedic specialist, and Capt. J. H. Cheffey, of the Naval Medical Center at Bethesda, Md.

The medical experts spent from 35 to 40 minutes with Kennedy in his living quarters at the White House late Tuesday afternoon.

Andrew T. Hatcher, assistant White House press secretary, said the three doctors "are of the combined opinion that his progress is satisfactory and that he will be able to conduct his daily schedule without the aid of crutches in two days."

Hatcher said he was unaware

Sullen Crowd Meets 'Riders' In Alabama

Group Doesn't Try To Enter Terminal

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI)—The first group of "freedom riders" to invade Alabama since a federal judge put the state off limits 18 days ago, was met by a sullen crowd and threats of bombings late Tuesday.

The nine riders — five Negroes and four whites — got off the Greyhound bus from Atlanta in a pouring rain but did not try to enter the terminal. They said they would proceed Wednesday to Jackson, Miss.

At least 60 uniformed police, firemen and other officers surrounded the bus terminal here before the riders arrived. Just six minutes before the bus was due, the fire department was called out to search the terminal because of two anonymous telephone calls saying that bombs would explode.

The sullen crowd of 400 to 500 white persons were kept at a distance by officers.

The "freedom riders" got off the bus and were told they could not enter the terminal because of the bomb threats.

"I understand," said the Rev. Wyatt Tee Walker, leader of the group.

After the "freedom riders" left in private cars for the Negro area of the city, the crowd continued to stand in the rain around the bus station.

Police patrol cars had met the bus about 15 miles outside Montgomery and followed it to the terminal because of last month's violence.

On June 2, Federal District Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr., issued a 10-day restraining order putting Alabama off limits for "freedom riders" into the South. He let the order lapse June 12 but warned all concerned that he reserved the right to reinstate it.

Walker said as his group left Atlanta without trouble that the ride into Alabama was designed to prove that "desegregated interstate travel has been re-established in Alabama."

Earlier Tuesday, 14 riders from

Longshoremen Call Mammoth New York Rally

NEW YORK (UPI) — New York longshoremen Tuesday ordered a demonstration by 150,000 workers that is expected to bring the nation's busiest port to a virtual standstill for a day to focus attention on the continuing coast-to-coast maritime strike.

The demonstration Wednesday was to take the form of a 12:30 p.m. EDT "meeting" of some 24,000 members of the International Longshoremen's Association (ILA) who handle the cargoes of all foreign and domestic ships.

Shortly after the meeting was called by ILA President William Bradley, 26 other harbor unions, including the Teamsters, announced they, too, would attend the rally which was expected to last the rest of the day.

The unions, which represent workers involved in virtually every facet of the port's operation, are linked together in the port's maritime coalition.

An ILA spokesman said the meeting was being staged to protest what he termed the American shipowners' "shortsighted view" in their bargaining talks with five maritime unions.

The maritime unions, whose members man the ships that the longshoremen load and unload, have been on strike since Friday.

The New York Shipping Association put a different interpretation upon the protest. The association said the demonstration was aimed primarily as a warning to the striking unions to start coming to terms.

An association spokesman said he "was given to understand" that the ILA was disturbed by the fact that longshoremen in ports throughout the country have been thrown out of work, while striking seamen still were getting meals and board on immobilized vessels.

The association warned Bradley in a telegram it would "take appropriate court action" and hold the ILA liable for damages if it carried out the shutdown.

Kennedy Tells Ikeda Cold War Letup Unlikely

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy Tuesday gave Japanese Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda a pessimistic appraisal of chances for a cold war truce. He asked his visitor's advice on how to convey this idea to the world.

At the first of three days' of meetings, Kennedy also sought Ikeda's suggestions on how to handle the United Nations debate this fall on membership for Red China. He wants to make sure Peiping is not voted in and Formosa voted out.

The leaders conferred at the White House for 83 minutes—23 minutes longer than scheduled. Ikeda earlier received a red carpet airport welcome and drove in a motorcade to Blair House, the President's guest residence.

Ikeda continued his discussions of major international issues with Secretary of State Dean Rusk after attending a state lunch given by Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson.

The prime minister of America's World War II enemy, now a bulwark of democracy in the Far East, was expected to take up the stalled nuclear test ban talks disarmament policy, the Berlin powder keg, Red China, the military junta in Korea, aid to underdeveloped countries and other issues in conversations here.

The talks mark the start of "partnership" consultations under the year-old U.S.-Japanese security treaty.

Adlai Flies To Bogota On Last Leg Of Tour

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson arrived Tuesday on the last leg of his South American tour. He found the city tightly guarded against any leftist demonstrations.

President Kennedy's special representative landed at old Techo Airport without incident as police concentrations diverted attention to the new International Airport in another part of the city.

Stevenson flew here from Quito, Ecuador, where he received a warm welcome and had friendly talks with government leaders.

Khrush Sends Dog, Ship Model Gifts To Kennedys

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Russian Premier Nikita Khrushchev Tuesday added the daughter of a Soviet space dog to the White House menagerie. It was puppy love at first sight for President Kennedy's Welsh terrier Charley.

Khrushchev also sent for Kennedy's model ship collection a replica of a 19th century American whaler carved from walrus tusks and whalebone.

The gifts were presented to the President by three Soviet officials. They also delivered a letter from Khrushchev.

The presents apparently stemmed from a conversation between Kennedy and Khrushchev in Vienna. At that time, the President gave the Red leader a model of the famous American warship widely separated areas of Turkey Tuesday. Ten persons were reported drowned. Thousands were left homeless and there was heavy damage to crops.

U.S. Note Tells Of Contacts, $1,700 Payoff

"All Lies," Czech Diplomat Retorts; Ouster Again Asked

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States accused Miroslav Nacvalac Tuesday of masquerading as Red Czechoslovakia's spy in the Western Hemisphere before taking his post here and of carrying on anti-U.S. spying under a cloak of diplomacy.

Nacvalac retorted: "All lies."

The United States leveled its newest blast at Nacvalac in a note transmitted to Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld and made public here and at the State Department in Washington. It again demanded expulsion of Nacvalac from the United States.

But the Czechoslovak mission said it will keep Nacvalac in his diplomatic post as counselor—No. 3 here—unless it gets instructions to the contrary from Prague.

The U.S. note made these charges:

1. Nacvalac had six meetings with Karel Hlasny, a naturalized American citizen in California, in 1958-61, and paid him $1,700.

2. Hlasny was promised an exit permit for his fiancée in Czechoslovakia. They now are married and in the United States.

Hlasny Worked With U.S.

Hlasny was cooperating with the United States in all his dealings with Nacvalac, the State Department said. Expulsion of Nacvalac was not demanded earlier because he had expressed interest in defecting from the Czech mission, U.S. authorities declared.

The first meeting was Nov. 3, 1958, when Nacvalac met Hlasny at the Army Language School in Monterey, Calif., where he was a U.S. Army language instructor. The other meetings:

Jan. 11, 1959, Los Angeles, where Nacvalac told Hlasny of U.S. government employees to be used as intelligence targets and paid him $600.

May 27, 1959, Monterey, when Hlasny got $400.

Nov. 14, 1959, San Francisco, where Hlasny was paid $500 for information.

April 2, 1960, San Francisco, with no payment taking place.

Jan. 21, 1961, San Francisco, where Hlasny was paid $200 for U.S. government information marked classified and was supplied by Nacvalac with a camera.

"Director Of Espionage"

Clayton Fritchey, spokesman for the U.S. mission to the United Nations, declared that Nacvalac's last assignment in Prague before coming to the United States in 1958 was "director of espionage, intelligence and subversive activities in the Western Hemisphere."

But Nacvalac, 39, a career man in his country's Foreign Ministry, said that statement and the entire account given in the note to Hammarskjöld were "not facts, but lies."

He told reporters he never had been in California. As to Hlasny, he declared: "I have never met this gentleman."

The Nacvalac story broke last Friday when Czechoslovakia charged in a note to Hammarskjöld that two U.S. intelligence agents tried to recruit Nacvalac as a spy.

Nacvalac told reporters the two agents—he named them as "Mr. Mack and Mr. Jack"—tried to recruit him during a luncheon at the Grisholm Restaurant in New York City.

He said he was with an American friend, who left when the agents showed a badge.

Riot At Patuxent Put Down; Inmate Flees

Escabee Shot, Four Guards Wounded

JESSUP, Md. (AP)—An inmate escaped from Patuxent Institution during a riot Tuesday, despite a bullet wound in the shoulder.

The escapee, Charles J. Yeagley, 23, scaled the prison wall during a riot involving about 65 inmates in the prison's recreation yard. He was shot by a tower guard.

Another inmate, Avery Lee, 20, was shot in the leg as he scrambled over a fence and broke for freedom. Lee was sentenced for manslaughter from Washington County, but Patuxent officials listed his home address as Baltimore.

Four guards were beaten with sticks, stones and possibly even a baseball bat, Patuxent officials said. Treated for cuts and bruises, they were identified as Buddy Hall, Charles Fleet, Robert Walker and Samuel Harrison.

The riot began, officials said, when several inmates of the institution for defective delinquents made a break for a 16-foot high fence surrounding the recreation yard.

Lee managed to scale the barrier and started running towards the woods. Officials said he ignored warnings to halt, then was felled by a shot from a tower guard.

Col. William J. E. Keish, superintendent, said other inmates in the yard turned on the guards there. In the course of that attack, Yeagley made his bid for freedom.

The riot was brought under control, Col. Keish said, after guards working outside the walls were summoned back.

The prisoners continued shouting and beating the walls after they were returned to their dormitories, the superintendent said.

At the height of the riot, State Police were alerted to be prepared to move in if prison guards did not succeed in controlling the prisoners.

Yeagley had been sentenced to the institution for robbery; with a deadly weapon and 11 charges of burglary in Baltimore County.

Lee was imprisoned after being convicted of manslaughter by a Washington County Court. He was under treatment in the institution's hospital.

School Aid Bill Handed New Setback

WASHINGTON (AP)—The administration lost another round Tuesday in a furious backstage struggle over its $2.5 billion public school bill.

By a 9-6 margin the House Rules Committee voted to delay action on the measure until it gets a bill to renew the National Defense Education Act—including long-term loans for parochial schools—from the House Education Committee.

Despite the setback, however, the prospects for the public school bill appeared to improve as an agreement was announced that would permit the House to vote on it ahead of the defense act bill.

Rep. Adam C. Powell, D-N.Y., chairman of the Education Committee, said he had the assurance of Majority Leader John W. McCormack, D-Mass., the school bill would be scheduled first—after the Rules Committee cleared both measures.

The order of precedence of the two bills has been a major controversy between Democratic leaders. The split was over which course of action might be more effective in quieting the parochial school issue.

Powell said he will try to get the defense education bill before the Rules Committee next week.

Robber Suspect Slain By Police

BALTIMORE (AP)—A 35-year-old burglary suspect was fatally shot early Tuesday when he tried to escape a police stakeout of his apartment.

Police first believed the victim, Harold Roberts, was not the man sought in the stakeout. Patrolmen Robert Leutbecher and Nicholas Rose had gone to the apartment in hopes of capturing Harold F. Smith, wanted in connection with two recent burglaries.

Later, police arrested a man described as an accomplice of Roberts and learned that Roberts also went under the alias of Harold F. Smith.

Roberts also was wanted for a parole violation.

The officers said the man entered the apartment about 4 a.m. After being told he was under arrest, he struggled with Leutbecher and escaped into the street where he was shot.

Cuba Molasses Unloaded; JFK Orders Probe

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—A Norwegian tanker completed unloading more than two million gallons of blackstrap molasses from Cuba Tuesday and President Kennedy directed his staff to look into the situation.

The big shipment from Cuba to New Orleans was completed despite protests to the White House from Louisiana members of Congress. In Washington, Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., called on Kennedy to invoke the act which bars trading with the enemy to freeze the molasses shipment and stop any further imports.

The molasses was valued at $201,842.40, the office of the collector of customs here reported.

At the White House, assistant press secretary Andrew T. Hatcher implied, without saying so outright, that the President was unhappy about the shipment. Hatcher recalled that Kennedy said at a news conference in mid-February he hoped the deal would not be completed.

The Treasury Department said the molasses was shipped by Empresa Cubana de Exportaciones to the North American Trading and Importing Co.

The shipment was declared not for human consumption or for the extraction of sugar, the department said. The customs declaration said the molasses was needed by the importer to fill a contract.

The 2,018,424 gallons of molasses was unloaded from the steamship Stolt Avance at the Publicker Chemical Corp. docks at Westwego, across the Mississippi River from New Orleans.

A spokesman for Publicker, which processes industrial alcohol from molasses at its New Orleans plant, said the Cuban molasses was destined for shipment outside the New Orleans area. He said any additional information would have to come from Publicker Industries in Philadelphia, the parent corporation.

Publicker Industries officials in Philadelphia declined comment. The corporation and its subsidiaries produce cattle feed in addition to industrial alcohol.

Cops Turn Up Shoe Mystery

BALTIMORE (AP)—Baltimore police found what appeared to be a discount shoe store in a woods Tuesday.

The find included 110 shoes and boots of all sizes, but the bounty wouldn't be useful to most people. All the shoes were right-footed.

Poisoned Bread Fatal To Boy, 4

BALTIMORE (AP)—A 4-year-old Baltimore boy died Tuesday, apparently from having eaten bread covered with rat poison. He found the poisoned bread in the yard of a neighbor.

The victim was Otis Watford Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Watford Sr. Two other Watford children, Diane Marie, 5, and Audrey, 3, also were poisoned, and were taken to St. Joseph's Hospital. Diane Marie's condition was listed as critical, and Audrey was in fair condition.

The neighbor who had left the poisoned bread in her yard told police she had been troubled by rats and roaches around her trash cans.

One Of Three Men Acquitted In Rape Case

PRINCE FREDERICK, Md. (AP)—A Calvert County Circuit Court jury Tuesday acquitted one of three Baltimore men accused of the statutory rape of a 13-year-old girl.

After deliberating half an hour, the jury returned a verdict of innocent on the charges against George E. Buettner, 47, a suspended bail bondsman from Baltimore's nightclub district known as the Block.

Earlier, two other defendants, Frank P. Ventimiglia, 51, another bondsman, and Louis Flax, 36, both of Baltimore, pleaded guilty and received suspended three-year prison terms.

The trial was conducted with State Police encircling the courtroom. Troopers were called in to guard Judge John B. Gray Jr. after he received threatening telephone calls before the trial got under way. A guard also was stationed at the jurist's home.

Buettner had pleaded innocent to the state's charges. He and his co-defendants had requested the trial be moved from Baltimore to Calvert County.

Prosecuting attorneys contend the three had relations with a 13-year-old girl in Buettner's bail bond office last April 22.

Judge Gray said he suspended the House of Correction sentences against Ventimiglia and Flax after learning the 13-year-old girl had had "relations with many men for several years."

The state accepted the pleas of guilty and dropped other charges against the two. They were given a year's probation each.

New Sabotage Charges Filed Against Brous

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP)—The federal government filed new sabotage charges Tuesday against Bernard Jerome Brous. A prosecutor said he understands Brous is eager to stand trial and "tell his story to the whole world."

Brous, 51, is described as mad at the world, generally, and at the telephone company, specifically.

He is accused of sabotage in the May 28 explosions which temporarily knocked out transcontinental microwave communications.

Brous, a New Yorker who friends say parlayed a $40,000 inheritance into a real estate fortune, was arrested at Ensenada, Mexico, last Saturday night in his schooner.

So was Dale Christian Jensen, 23, a miner and heavy equipment operator from Reno, Nev., who said Brous hired him to blow up the microwave relay tower at Wendover, Nev., the underground cable relay system at Knolls, Utah, and the microwave relay tower at Cedar Mountain in western Utah.

Brous was reported to be miffed when a small firm of his couldn't compete with a large phone company for minor repair work in Texas.

He organized to fight what he felt was a big business monopoly in telephones and sent out recruiting letters for his "American Republican Army." Tracing those letters led to his arrest.

Brous and Jensen were taken from Mexico to San Diego, Calif., on a charge of conspiring to commit sabotage in Nevada. The charges filed Tuesday specified sabotage and conspiracy in connection with the Utah blasts.

An assistant U.S. attorney in Utah, C. Nelson Day, said "Jensen is quite voluble about it all. Brous is not quite that talkative. But I understand he wants to stand trial and tell his story to the whole world. He is a very unusual man."

Montgomery Teachers Ask $5,000 Pay Base

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP)—Teachers in the Montgomery County school system Tuesday asked for a starting annual wage of $5,000 and yearly increases that would induce them to forego seeking other employment.

The present starting salary is $4,500 a year. The requested increases would become effective in July 1962.

Man Admits Encouraging Wife To Commit Suicide

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—A young man admitted to encouraging his 18-year-old wife to commit suicide. He said he brought her a glass of water to help her swallow some pills, then sat beside her until he was sure she was dead.

Robert J. Ducharme Jr., 21, a laboratory technician at Truax Air Force Base, listened without emotion as Dist. Atty. William D. Byrne read an account of Kathleen Ducharme's death March 27.

Then he told Judge Roy Proctor that the account was true, and pleaded guilty to a charge of aiding and abetting a suicide, which under Wisconsin law is punishable by a prison term of up to 10 years.

Judge Proctor ordered a pre-sentence investigation.

The account related by Byrne quoted Ducharme as saying he returned to the family's trailer home at noon where his wife told him she didn't feel like going to work at a department store that afternoon. She took several "pain pills," he said, and he suggested she empty the bottle. He brought her a glass of water to help her swallow. Mrs. Ducharme then took about 80 pills, and lay down on a couch. He said he remained at her side until he was sure she was dead, then locked the two boys in the trailer with the body and went back to the base.

ANOTHER BIG REASON BEHIND THE BIG BOOM IN FORD SALES:

Galaxie styling is inspiring more admiration (and imitation) than any other car on the road!

This is the look that started with Thunderbird—aired the Galaxie—and quickly became the styling success of the Sixties.

Many cars have tried to copy it. No car has succeeded. Incomparably beautiful, the 1961 Galaxie maintains its distinction—as originals always do.

Styling is only part of Galaxie's distinction: this is the car that's beautifully built to take care of itself. The '61 Ford goes 30,000 miles between chassis lubrications . . . 4,000 miles between oil changes. Brakes adjust automatically. The muffler is built to last three times as long as ordinary ones. The body is specially treated to resist rust and corrosion. The finish never needs waxing.

Maryland Briefs

EASTON, Md. (AP)—Residents of Talbot, Queen Annes and Dorchester counties have endorsed establishment of a community college to serve central areas of the Eastern Shore. A resolution favoring such a college was placed before an open forum meeting here by Joseph Anderson, a member of the Talbot County Board of Education.

HEBRON, Md. (AP)—A heart attack was fatal Tuesday to a 70-year-old Wicomico County farmer as he drove a tractor pulling a cultivator on a farm near here.

The victim, Rodney T. Moore, fell to the ground after he was stricken and his clothing was caught in the cultivator. He was pronounced dead at the scene by Dr. Earl L. Royer, deputy medical examiner.

BALTIMORE (AP)—An appeal to the United States Supreme Court has been filed on behalf of James L. Presley, 43, sentenced to death for the rape of an 11-year-old Sunday school pupil more than a year ago.

His conviction in Baltimore Criminal Court was upheld last March 22 by the Maryland Court of Appeals. In his further appeal, Presley contended he was denied constitutional rights after his arrest and during his trial.

BALTIMORE (AP)—Marvin Greenstreet, 35, one of the original patients at the new Patuxent Institution, has been released after serving nearly seven years on an original two-year sentence for burglary.

Greenstreet had been continued as an inmate of the institution past the original term on the basis of two rulings that held him to be a defective delinquent.

He won his freedom on a ruling by a Criminal Court jury that held Greenstreet no longer was delinquent. Defense attorneys argued Greenstreet had paid his debt to society and was entitled to a chance to prove he can live within the law.

HAGERSTOWN (AP)—Robert F. Guy, 18, of Baltimore, serving an eight-year term for burglary, was reported missing Tuesday from the State Reformatory for Males near here. Officials said he apparently escaped while working in the institution's cleaning plant.

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore City Employees Union Tuesday asked Mayor J. Harold Grady for a 10 per cent general wage increase for all city workers. The city's annual payroll now amounts to about $125 million.

The union, Local 44 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, says it represents more than 2,000 city workers. The union also advanced requests for unemployment compensation coverage, insurance coverage and improved grievance procedures.

BALTIMORE (AP)—The College of Notre Dame of Maryland said Tuesday its newly modernized five-story building on its Baltimore campus will be named Gibbons Hall at dedication ceremonies this summer.

The building is scheduled for completion June 30, the 100th anniversary of the late James Cardinal Gibbons' ordination as a priest in Baltimore and the 75th anniversary of the day he received his red hat as a prince of the Catholic Church.

The structure is a renovation of the old Notre Dame Preparatory School, and will house college administrative offices, lecture halls, laboratories and other facilities.

Allegany Third In Enrollment

Allegany county with 79 women attending Rural Women's Short Course, is third in enrollment, Margaret Oliver, state house demonstration agent, reports. Baltimore City has the record with 104. Anne Arundel county has 84.

College Week for Women began Monday. The curriculum includes 24 classes, with subject matter streamlined, in capsule form to give homemakers research information to apply at home. Eighty-one will graduate Friday, after four years attendance.

Watches and calendars that are meaningful to the American way of life fail to hasten the pace of rural East Pakistan. A man wears a watch as a piece of jewelry to indicate western influence, not because of its utilitarian value.

These are the observations of Jack Conaway, Jr., Carroll County 4-H Club member who recently returned from East Pakistan where he lived with families as an International Farm Youth Exchange. He spoke to delegates attending the International Relations class during Rural Women's Short Course.

Communication is so limited that a man who travels 15 miles from home is considered well traveled. Part of the difficulty is building permanent bridges over rivers that expand with floods from a normal dozen feet to 15 miles in flood state. Air travel is the only means of traveling any distance in the monsoon season.

Because of close knit community life, the rural East Pakistanis have developed high moral codes for harmonious living. They have elaborate laws set down in the Koran that provide rules for living within their society.

Life is male dominated — men shop for food, make public appearances and converse with men on business matters. "I was never introduced to my host mother in any of the homes I visited," relates Mr. Conaway. On rare occasions when men and women go places together, the two sexes sit on opposite sides of the room.

Women feel great security within their homes. They're mistress of their domains and generally men don't question their authority in this area. "Divorce is rare and since women aren't competing with men, they appear content, but not complacent," observes Mr. Conaway.

Parents arrange marriages for their sons and daughters. The bride and groom meet at the altar. The couple returns to the groom's home where they may live five to ten years until they become economically independent.

East Pakistan is 85 per cent agricultural and densely populated. Individual freedom has little meaning to people and it's hard for them to understand democracy.

Other speakers include, Walter H. Judd, congressman from Minnesota, Mrs. Homer Remsburg, area vice president of the Associated Country Women of the World, Mrs. Hester Beall Provensen, University of Maryland Department of Speech; Mrs. Lynn Mighell (Marjorie Holmes of the Washington Evening Star); Miss Bertha S. Adkins, head of Foxcroft School, Middleburg, Va.; Dr. R. C. S. Young, lecturer and consultant to Higher Education and Business, Birmingham, Mich.

A ham or turkey plate dinner will be held at Fairview Avenue Methodist Church tomorrow evening, beginning at 4:30. Strawberries and home made baked goods will be for sale. The WSCS is sponsoring the supper.

The Past Presidents Club of the VFW Auxiliary will meet tomorrow evening at the post home. Mrs. Charlotte Himes and Mrs. Zellene Norris will be hostesses.

Chapter To Install Officers

The executive board of the Women of the Moose, Chapter 914, will meet with Mrs. Florence Wolfe tonight at 7:30, at the Moose home.

A general meeting will be held at 8 o'clock, at which time there will be balloting on new candidates and installation of officers. The installation ceremony will be conducted by the Keyser Chapter.

New officers are Mrs. Catherine Breedlove, senior regent; Mrs. Wolfe, junior graduate regent; Mrs. Shirley Short, junior regent; Mrs. Rosalie Evans, chaplain; Mrs. Marie Payne, treasurer, and Mrs. Mary Alta Humbertson, recorder.

Mrs. Gordon Taylor, 75 Broadway, Frostburg, a member of the Allegany County Bird Club, and state representative, is attending the Audubon leadership training camp, at Greenwich, Conn.

Secrets Of Charm by John Robert Powers

Awkwardness is certainly un-in-sideways until they rest on the necessary. It's much easier to perform these actions gracefully than it is to describe how they should be done. If you have the slightest suspicion that you aren't the picture of poise and grace as you enter or leave a car door, practice these procedures in the privacy of your garage.

To enter a car gracefully, face the front of the car, so that one side of you is turned toward the door. Maintain this squarely sidelong position, without once twisting your hips or shoulders even slightly.

Now, set the foot nearest the door six inches inside the car, flat on the floor and pointing straight ahead. Then take two swift and easy movements as close together as possible. With action springing from the foot still on the ground, swing your head and shoulders into the car. Shift your weight to the foot inside the car and slide your hips

To disembark gracefully, slide sideways to the end of the seat and reach out with the foot nearest the door until it touches the ground. This is easy, but the next act takes practice.

This time with action springing from the foot in the car, and with head and shoulders leading, lift yourself up and out and set the second foot on the ground. Straightening up quickly to align your trunk perfectly with your feet finishes the performance ably.

Never, never try to stand up in a car and plunge out head first.

Bringing Up Baby

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

A backyard can be a real blessing in the summer-time. If you have one, why not move baby's playpen outdoors these fine June days? With all of nature's sights to see, your cherub will probably be content to stay put for reasonable periods of time.

- If you park the pen in a shaded, sheltered spot, baby won't get burned or chilled. A shirt will protect baby, should breezes blow.
- This is a good time for you to catch up on "lap jobs", such as mending, reading or knitting, while you sit outdoors with baby.

June or January, cereal is usually on baby's daily mealtime agenda. Gerber Cereals are especially popular with babies because the flavors are ever so delicate... the texture ever so smooth to the tongue. As for baby's nutritional well-being, all 5 are enriched with iron*, important B-vitamins and calcium. Rotate Rice Cereal, Barley, Oatmeal, Mixed Cereal and High Protein Cereal for continued meal appeal.

*6 tablespoons of any Gerber Cereal provide baby with over 100% of the Recommended Daily Dietary Allowance for iron.

Of routine interest: Regular meal-time and sandman hours are important the year around. (Somehow routines have a way of getting relaxed in summer with haphazard bedtimes and meals.) It's wise to remember that a well-regulated (but not strictly tied-down) baby is usually a happy, healthy baby.

Sunny summer menu suggestion. Gerber Strained Egg Yolks have an appealing, sunny color, a delicate, fresh-egg flavor and a creamy, custard-like texture. Nutritionally, they're rich in iron and vitamin A. high in protein. Gerber Baby Foods, Fremont, Michigan.

Attorney Gives Approval To College

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday conferred with Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools, concerning the community college plan for Carver School which yesterday got the legal "green light."

Leslie J. Clark, attorney to the board, told the commissioners that he sees no legal objection to using the contingency fund to provide the $30,000 needed to start the program.

Commissioner Louis V. Shinnamon then inquired as to certain aspects of the plan. Webster was called in to brief the board on these points.

Webster said that the first thing which has to be done is to remodel or change certain facilities at the Carver School, which had been used primarily for elementary pupils. This cost will be only for the first year, Webster explained.

The next most vital item will be the library, which will be set up for use in the college program. This will also not be a recurring cost but in future years will cost only for new volumes.

Webster said that a dean would be selected and five or six instructors. He also said that more than 600 persons, mostly this year's graduates, expressed interest in attending the college.

He said that the first year's enrollment would probably not be over 125 students on a full time basis.

In connection with the teaching staff, Webster said that interest in teaching at night classes in certain subjects has been expressed by men and women who are employed in local industries and businesses.

Webster also said that the college would be headed by a board of trustees, which will be the Allegany County Board of Education. Separate books and accounts and budget will be kept by the college and will in no way be connected with the school board budgeting.

It was also explained by Webster that a survey of the six junior or community colleges in the state show that those who wish to transfer to a four-year college after attending the community college have had no difficulty.

Loss of credits has occurred only when the student has changed courses or does not have certain subjects needed in the four-year school.

Biggest benefit to the community will be the saving by students attending the school and residing at home. Room and board is a majority cost of obtaining a college education.

Men and women who are employed in business and area industries are also interested in taking courses co-related to their employment, Webster said.

Persons residing in nearby West Virginia and Pennsylvania who attend the school will have to pay the full costs. Residents of Maryland and particularly in Allegany County, will pay one-third of the costs of operation of the school, the state, one-third, and the county, one-third, during the first year. The college is planned to be opened about the first part of November.

ABL Motor Selected For Space Probe

How much danger does space dust pose to rocket travel tomorrow?

For a one-year period National Aeronautics and Space Administration will have an electronic system orbit the earth to answer this question.

Long considered the best and most versatile space motor in existence, Altair, Hercules Powder Company's fourth stage for Scout, developed at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, has been assigned additional duties in the S-55 satellite to be launched this month from Wallops Island.

Although Altair has been used before for visual tracking purposes in some launches, and has carried radars in others, the rocket motor will for the first time in this launch become a full-fledged satellite by itself.

There have been more than 12 Altair cases orbiting the earth, but none of these are instrumented to record and transmit data to ground stations.

NASA officials stated that they will explore the threat of micrometeoroids puncturing manned spacecrafts by turning the Altair motor into an instrumented orbiting body. Cell detectors will be clustered on the skin of the motor, and an extension on the Altair's nose will carry the telemetry power supply, and other system components. Overall, the satellite is 80 inches long and weighs 135 pounds. The spent motor case, to which the instruments are attached, weighs 50 pounds.

Simply stated, the S-55's job will be to find out the size, number, distribution and momenta of space dust particles. Five separate measurements will be made by this satellite to gather the required data.

NASA expects the satellite to have a useful life of one year. During the first two weeks in space the satellite will be commanded to read out data about three times per orbit. Later, as routines are worked out, it will be commanded only once per orbit.

Primary purpose of the launch actually is a development test for Scout, so the payload is just a hitchhiker.

NASA hopes, through the use of such experiments as this, to investigate those hazards which might be met by our American astronauts and through the knowledge gained, provide every protection possible to assure safe orbital flights.

Board Gives Views On Garrett Liquor

The Garrett County Board of Commissioners yesterday urged the voters of that county to approve the legalized sale of whisky at the referendum Wednesday.

The commissioners, in a statement, made clear that it is not their intent to encourage the consumption of more intoxicants or to induce more people to drink.

Rather it is their only interest, they said, to help put the county in a position to share in the revenue it deserves and is entitled.

The referendum, if passed, would set up better enforcement of the alcoholic beverage laws as provided in the bill sponsored and passed in the General Assembly by State Sen. Bernard I. Gonder this year.

The board believes, the statement continued, that the amount of liquor being consumed in Garrett County (only beer is legal) is comparable to the amounts consumed in other small counties in the state.

Garrett County should realize $100,000 in additional revenues from its share of the state liquor tax and profit from the sales in the county-operated stores.

Garrett County is the only county in Maryland that does not set a share of the state tax on whisky as it is not sold legally there.

Under Sen. Gonder's bill, county would operate the liquor stores. The licensed establishments, limited to bona fide restaurants, hotels, fraternal and veterans' organizations, would have to purchase their supplies from the county stores.

The commissioners said they felt better enforcement and control would result under provisions of the bill. It would eliminate most of the possibility of teenagers purchasing intoxicants, they said.

In addition to furnishing more employment through increased recreational facilities, there would be a higher tax base through additional construction.

In the event whisky is legalized, at least one hotel is contemplated on Deep Creek Lake, the board reported.

Through this increased tax yield from a higher base, there is a possibility of a tax rate reduction or at least the withstanding of an increase, the board stated.

The taxpayers of Garrett County should understand that additional monies are needed due to the ever increasing budgets of operating schools, the road department and public welfare, they added.

Gertrude Needs Chance To Rest

LONDON (UPI)—Veterinarians at the London Zoo have ordered a complete rest for Gertrude, a 5½-foot South American earthworm, lest she crack up—literally. Zoo officials said experts have been so busy examining the huge worm, recently brought here from the Andes, that she must be left alone to burrow for a few days. They said earthworms who are disturbed too often tend to disintegrate.

Elk Garden Youth Jumps From Bridge

A 20-year-old former Elk Garden resident, who was acquitted three years ago on a charge of murdering his father, died in a plunge from the Calvert Street bridge in Washington Monday.

Joseph Edward Paugh, 1416 Longfellow Street, N. W., Washington, was found on the grass 80 feet below the span at 10:15 p. m.

Mikhail A. Shumayev, second secretary at the Russian Embassy, told police he saw a man climb the north railing and jump.

Det. Sgt. Roy Schwab of the Metropolitan Homicide Squad said Paugh left a note saying he was going to commit suicide. Investigation also disclosed that the victim phoned his brother, Joseph P. Judy, Baltimore, shortly before the body was found.

Paugh was charged with murder in the stabbing of his father, Clarence Ernest (Tig) Paugh, 56, during an argument at the family home in Elk Garden on March 31, 1958.

The father reportedly slapped his wife, Margie, and the son stabbed him in the back on the left side near the shoulder with a 10-inch homemade dagger. The elder Paugh was dead when police reached the scene.

Paugh's mother corroborated her son's story, and he was acquitted after being tried before Former Judge Ernest A. See who pointed out that "the boy didn't have much of a chance" at home.

Survivors include his widow, Nancy, a son and his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Hickey, Elk Garden.

Preliminary Meeting Set By CUF Unit

William A. Cook, chairman of the allocations committee of the County United Fund, has scheduled a meeting of the committee at the County United Fund office, corner of Frederick and North Liberty Streets, for Thursday, at 7:30 p. m.

"As it is our annual responsibility to review the needs of our agencies, totaling approximately one-third of $1,000,000 each year, the impact of this meeting cannot be over stressed," Cook said in urging all members to be present.

Several new members have been added to the committee, he said, and it was, therefore, deemed advisable to have a preliminary meeting to review the responsibilities and procedures of the allocations group.

Budget conferences between the 29 CUF agencies and the Allocations Committee are scheduled from July 10 through July 20 in Cumberland, Keyser, Tri-Towns and Frostburg.

Volunteers who serve on the allocations committee with Cook, include John Batcha Jr. and Duane L. Boyd, co-chairmen; Cumberland area, David E. Holmes, Wallace B. Keller, Harry W. McCunn and Mrs. George M. Young; Frostburg area, James E. Banger, Mrs. Albert C. Cook, Joseph H. Kruson and Ralph M. Race; Keyser area, Dr. Ernest E. Church, Frank J. Mundeno, Mrs. Harry J. Reese and Walter D. Tetric; Tri-Towns Area, Lester C. Anderson, G. Harley Dixon, Mrs. Dorothy Kight and Horace P. Whitworth, Jr.

Stops Constipation Due to "Aging Colon"

New laxative discovery re-creates 3 essentials for normal regularity

As you grow older, the internal muscles of your colon wall also age, lose the strength that propels waste from the body. Stagnant bowel contents become so dry and shrunken that they fail to stimulate the urge to purge.

Relief, doctors say, lies in a new laxative principle. Old-style bulks and moisteners may create gas, take 3 or 4 days for relief. Old-style salts and drugs cramp and gripe the entire system. Of all laxatives, only new COLONOID gives you its special 3-way relief that works only on the lower colon (area of constipation).

(1) COLONOID moisturizes dry, hardened waste for easy passage without pain or strain. (2) COLONOID's unequalled rebulking action helps restore flabby colon muscles. (3) And COLONOID acts gently, on the nerve reflexes that stimulate the vital "mass movement" of your lower colon.

COLONOID relieves even chronic constipation overnight; is so gentle it was hospital proved safe even for expectant mothers. And COLONOID won't interfere with absorption of vitamins or other food nutrients. Get COLONOID today! INTRODUCTORY SIZE 43¢

Lonaconing To Liquidate Old Obligations

Mayor Lashes "Favoritism"

Mayor Virgil Alexander who took office in Lonaconing this month, has urged the town council to curb all unnecessary spending until the town is out of debt. He also advised the town's police officers that any practice of favoritism or partiality in enforcing traffic, parking and other ordinances is unfair and that any discrimination will not be tolerated. He said, "we want to treat every one equally, and all our citizens should be willing to cooperate and abide by the laws of the community."

Mayor Alexander noted that the town has six specific obligations which should be cleared up as rapidly as possible. These are inherited from previous administrations, he noted, and he expressed the view that the citizens prefer to keep the town debt free if possible.

He listed the obligations as a $3,500 note at the Liberty Trust Company bank, which is an old debt, and has not been paid; a second loan from the bank of $1,000 borrowed to tide the town over until tax money starts coming in; and three bills from the Cumberland Contracting Company for paving work. One of these is for $1,367 for paving a parking lot; a second is for $1,400 for filling along curbs and gutters in the town with blacktop; and a third is for $814 for widening a portion of Front Street adjacent to the Pentecostal Church.

A sixth obligation is an unpaid $1,300 which was obligated for the purchase of the old Western Maryland depot lot for use as a parking lot.

Council agreed that there should be some "belt-tightening" until these obligations are met. The council has also set the same tax rate as last year, 85 cents on each $100 assessment.

At Monday night's session of the Lonaconing council, James S. Getty was appointed town attorney and William Torkington was appointed town auditor to check the books for the fiscal year.

In another appointment, William McIndoe was named to the town's Civil Service Board, replacing William Kelly whose term expires. Mr. Kelly was chairman and council elevated Raymond Ralston to serve as chairman. The third member is Mrs. Elizabeth Bolard.

Council also voted to remove loading and unloading zones on Main and Union streets, and to replace parking meters there. Police and council reported that the zones are not working out and have caused some congestion and dissension.

The town fathers also voted to accept the proposal of increased insurance coverage on town employees as proposed through the Maryland Municipal League. Mayor Alexander reported on the sessions of the league he recently attended at Ocean City.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Sen. John Marshall Butler, R-Md., Tuesday urged prompt and favorable consideration of a federal airport bill which he joined in introducing in the Senate.

The bill is designed to assist the huge commercial fields such as Baltimore's Friendship Airport and smaller general aviation fields. It would authorize a five-year program of federal assistance for airport development.

Butler, in a statement received here, said the bill would substantially assist the airports at Cumberland, Hagerstown, Westminster, Salisbury, College Park and other Maryland towns. The measure would provide funds to insure these airports are equipped with the latest safety devices.

Light Issues

"Cumberland has an adequate source of supply of water for not only its present needs but for many years to come. However, it is felt that the studies which have been made in connection with our water distribution system were necessary, due to the fact that we must at all times in the future have adequate water available for the City.

I personally appreciate the advice and counsel of many persons regarding our water supply and distribution system and you can rest assured that our water system will remain under constant study and will be kept in the best possible repair and that the most modern procedures will be followed.

The rules and regulations of the Water Department refer to water rationing and it is hoped that such a program will never have to be placed in effect. We can with our present facilities safely supply 18 million gallons of water per day if ample water is available. The last water shortage occurred about 30 years ago and we trust that we will never have another shortage. However, we do feel that some policy must be adopted so that all customers will have advance notice as to how a shortage problem will be handled, should the same occur. Residents of the City and industrial users will be the last to be affected should a rationing program be placed in effect.

I repeat that the City has at this time excess water for sale but must make plans for the protection of this most valuable asset.

The City will in every way possible cooperate with the County Commissioners and if their consulting engineers feel that a study should be made of the Wills Creek watershed and Town Creek watershed and the feasibility of transmitting water from either or both of such watersheds into Lake Gordon, the present information which the city has in connection with this matter will be made available. In addition, the Water Department will be glad to discuss with the County the transfer of any water distribution systems located outside the City Limits, over which the City has control, if, as and when such meetings are deemed advisable.

I again want to emphasize the fact that any new industry or existing industry located within or without the City Limits desiring to purchase water from the City may do so upon application. I refer particularly to Allegany Ballistics Laboratory which has indicated that it may be desirous of obtaining City water.

There has been considerable discussion concerning two housing developments to be located beyond Cresaptown. The Water Department has no objection to Cresaptown furnishing water to these developments; however, the rules and regulations as established by the Water Department would apply to these developments as well as any other users outside the City Limits.

Water Policies

(Continued from Page 18) water, water will be rationed to these customers. Rationing schedules will depend on the number of feet that water is below the spillway in Lake Gordon or Lake Koon, or both, at a particular time. Rationing schedules will be furnished to the water companies and, if it is necessary to place the same into effect, notification will be given through the public press and by telephone.

There will be no restriction on the number of taps to be granted by any particular water company. Rates for water and tapage fees to be charged by the City of Cumberland will be reviewed.

All of the present contracts between, the City of Cumberland and the water companies will be studied so that the terms and provisions of such contracts will be uniform.

On or before December 31, 1965, it will be incumbent upon the water companies which are not served through master meters located near the City line to have the same installed, under City supervision, at their own cost and expense so that thereafter the City will not be responsible for the repair and maintenance of any lines supplying water to water companies from the City line to the point of ultimate consumption.

INDUSTRIAL CUSTOMERS

It is anticipated that all industrial customers outside the City Limits, using over 50,000 gallons of water per day, will, prior to December 31, 1965, be located within the limits of a Sanitary District and will be subject to the rules and regulations of the same.

There will be no rationing of water by the City insofar as these industries are concerned unless rationing is necessary for all customers of the Water Department. The rate schedule for such industrial users will be studied.

The contract between the City and a Sanitary District will provide that the City must approve any rate increase for industrial users.

INDIVIDUAL CUSTOMERS

Developments lying contiguous to the City, bounded generally as follows: Bedford Road—Naves Crossroads; Baltimore Pike—Evitts Creek; Williams Road—Evitts Creek; Oldtown Road—Evitts Creek; Braddock Road—approximately 750 feet West of Seneca Avenue; McMullen Highway—present City Limits; North Cumberland—Piedmont Avenue on the West, a point 500 feet North of Roxberry Avenue on the North and the Valley Road on the East; will be required to submit applications for annexation to the City prior to the granting of water services to these areas.

All other individual customers will have to become a part of a Sanitary District or some other quasi public body which will purchase water from the City through a master meter and have its own distribution system. Taps will be granted by the City beyond the areas as listed in paragraph 1 until December 31, 1965, with the exception that no new taps will be permitted on main transmission lines of the City except to water companies or Sanitary Districts, after which time all individual customers located in these areas must have their own source of supply of water or purchase water from a Sanitary District.

All taps on the main transmission lines of the City must be removed by December 31, 1965, and the only taps allowed thereafter on such main transmission lines will be to Sanitary Districts. A master meter will be installed at the cost and expense of the Sanitary District at the point of tap on the City's main transmission line.

Individual customers outside the city will be rationed when necessary. If such customers are rationed and a customer violates the rationing regulations, such customer will be charged double his normal water charge for all water consumed. Notice of rationing will be given through the public press.

Rate schedules will be studied.

U.S. Debt Ceiling
Seen Rising Again

The U. S. Treasury sees the need of a $298 billion ceiling on the national debt. Should Congress fail to act by the end of this month, the current ceiling of $293 billion would revert to the "permanent" limit of $285 billion. The debt now stands at near $291 billion.

Why Congress should hem and haw over the debt ceiling is hard to figure. That body is responsible for putting appropriations limits on the government. Where these limits are above revenues from taxation, Congress has the power to raise taxes.

It has not been conspicuously successful in either area for a generation, so the prospect is that the legislative branch will go on raising the ceiling until it breaks through $300 billion, after which the sky will be the limit.

That is, Congress will do so unless a majority of the members, influenced by strong public sentiment, decides fiscal soundness serves the nation better than the loose practices of the last three decades.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

How To Go Broke

Professor Robert Triffin of Yale writes with wisdom on how to go broke. Of course, it is not essential to go broke. This is most often avoidable, but some set out to do it without much thought of the aftermath.

There are even those who enjoy going broke, spending their way through life until nothing is left for them but to make a touch.

So the learned professor does an essay on the subject with apt applications to what has happened and is happening to the American dollar because of the improvident spending of our money. Professor Triffin says:

"There are two ways to go broke: a slow one and a fast one. The slow way is to go on, year after year, spending more money than you earn. But if you are rich to begin with, you won't go broke very fast that way. You will pay for your overspending by depleting your bank balance and other assets and by getting loans from people who trust your capacity to repay them later.

"A much faster way to go broke is to finance too much of your overspending by short-term borrowing. Even if you stop overspending, you may then still run into serious trouble if your IOU's are suddenly presented to you for repayment at a time when your bank balance has fallen too low to cover them. If you still have other, longer-term assets in sufficient amount, you will remain perfectly solvent, but you will be confronted, nevertheless, with what is called a liquidity crisis."

The term, "liquidity crisis," might be translated into the simple word, tight. Many of us have been tight, or to put it another way, short of cash. When a nation gets to be short of cash, it can, of course, print more paper money. It can go on printing money until its money is worthless.

Professor Triffin makes the point:
"We have, over the past decade, spent, lent, and given away about $20 billion more than we earned and covered the difference by cash payments in gold ($6 billion) and also by short-term IOU's ($14 billion), which foreign central banks, private banks, and individuals were, until recently, quite glad to invest in, since the dollar was regarded as safer than any other currency, and even, for the time being, as safe as gold itself."

It was, of course, too much to give away; so the dollar depreciated in value. We were not conscious of this in the United States because we did not go hungry here. The country was rich. The people were well off. We have a high standard of living. Nevertheless, economics walked its harsh way without regard to human enthusiasms and the result was that our gold supply began to disappear. As a short-cut solution some bankers proposed that we withdraw the small gold protection that the American dollar has—a ridiculous proposal which would not have been made by those great men of Wall Street who rejected Populism and free silver and other attempts to cheapen the American dollar.

Those who believe in cheap money suffer from the aberration that the more money you have the richer you are. This is only true if the money has value. If, for instance, a currency stands at, let us say, 288 to the dollar, it means that a fellow who has $100 worth of it has 28,800 of that currency. Looking at it, 28,800 is more than 100 but is it worth more?

I can remember when $25 a week was very good pay for a secretary who could take stenography, spell, add a column of figures, and say, "Good Morning," politely. A girl who can do all that today might command $100 or more a week, but is she getting more? The likelihood, adding taxes, social security, and the high cost of living is that she is getting less. The same is true of all wage earners; their nominal wages go up but it is in money that it is worth less.

Money is nothing to fool about and politicians have a way of covering up errors by doing the wrong thing grandiloquently. But it is our money and we need to give it watchful attention. Money is the business of Congress and Congress has not been too keen on resuming its responsibility to rest on the American dollar.

Time To Grow Legs

Secret Roosevelt-Stalin Papers Disclosed

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — A shameful chapter in American history now has been revealed after 17 years of secrecy. Documents just published by the State Department show that a President of the United States went to a "summit" conference during World War II and made a deal with the Communist dictator — Josef Stalin — whereby much of Poland's territory was deliberately conceded to Russia and the way was paved for similar deals that permitted the Communists to grab small countries.

What was even worse, a President of the United States told a foreign ruler that his own decisions were related to a fear he might not retain a bloc of votes of American citizens of Polish extraction and that, for this reason, the deal had to be kept secret — at least until a presidential election was over. Actually, these facts have not been disclosed until now.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democrat, was the President of the United States who participated in these secret negotiations in 1943 at Teheran (Iran). He disregarded the rule of the constitution which says that the chief executive "shall have power by and with the advice and consent of the Senate to make treaties, provided two-thirds of the Senators present concur."

It is out of this clause in the constitution that a President derives his power to conduct foreign policy. The right to make temporary agreements or understandings directly related to the military conduct of a war has never been questioned, but any pact which is as far-reaching as a division of territory after a war certainly comes within the category of a treaty. The Senate should have been consulted.

The carving up of territory — utterly disregarding the wishes of the people and their future opportunities for self-government — is something associated usually with the absolute monarch. A President of the United States is supposed to be the champion of freedom and of the self-determination of peoples. The Polish people didn't start World War II. On the contrary, it was Hitler's attack on Poland that drew Britain into the conflict. Yet President Roosevelt was later a party to the partitioning of Poland so as to satisfy Communist Russia, which had seized a large part of Poland in 1939 while a partner of Hitler.

It might be asked why a Democratic administration in Washington today makes public hitherto undisclosed documents that reflect so gravely on the conduct of foreign policy by a previous Democratic administration. The reason may be inferred from an Associated Press dispatch of February 17 last quoting from an exclusive story in the New York "Daily News" which stated that President Eisenhower, on leaving the White House, took with him proof sheets of the papers on the Teheran Conference. The article said that Republican leaders, who had conferred with Mr. Eisenhower, asked him to keep a copy of the papers indefinitely to see whether they would be withheld or released in part by the State Department. So apparently the Kennedy Administration had no choice but to give them in full to the press.

Much of the Teheran story has been told over the years, but never have the American people learned the details of the secret deal between President Roosevelt and Marshal Stalin. It so happens that Charles E. Bohlen, who at the time was first secretary to the American Embassy in Moscow and acted as interpreter for Mr. Roosevelt, accompanied President Kennedy at his recent conference in Vienna with Nikita Khrushchev.

The State Department's published record — based on Mr. Bohlen's extensive notes — now shows Mr. Roosevelt discussing the Polish question in a private talk with Marshal Stalin on December 1, 1943, as follows:

Senators From Wide-Open West
Vote Against Parks For Big Cities

By Drew Pearson

Everett Dirksen of Illinois, a far better debater than the taciturn Case, was helping him with ridicule.

"This is a new dimension in space," Dirksen described the open-space provision of the Housing Bill. "It should have come from the Committee on Outer Space."

"The Housing Administration might go out and buy one of the orchards of the distinguished Senator from Virginia (Harry Byrd). The administrator might buy Lookout Mountain in Georgia. Probably 1,000 acres could be added in Ohio in honor of Johnny Appleseed who scattered seeds all over the midwest."

"Or the project might be scientific, depending on the kind of apple seeds. If they were not the kind of apple seeds that came from the distinguished Senator from Winchester, Va., perhaps we would not give them that scientific accolade."

Metropolitan Jungles
But Sen. John Carroll, Democrat, who comes from the wide-open spaces of Colorado, disagreed.

"I heard the masterful presentation of the minority leader," he said, "in his delightful sarcasm and ridicule. But I have seen the spilling over of new houses from Denver into adjoining areas, with no provision for open spaces, and the construction of houses where they should not have been permitted, simply because there was no planning."

Senator Williams of New Jersey pointed out that two-thirds of the American people are residents of metropolitan areas, that by the year 2000, 107,000,000 people will live in only 10 cities, with 85 per cent of the population living in metropolitan areas.

Sen. Hubert Humphrey, one-time mayor of Minneapolis, told the Senate of the big-city problem of reserving open spaces when state legislatures are always stacked against the cities.

But Sen. Case was unmoved. While the big cities sweltered in 90-degree temperature, the Senators in their air-cooled chamber, voted with Case, against open spaces for cities.

It was a line-up largely of the wide-open West against the industrial East which won't be forgotten by several eastern Senators when it comes to the next national park appropriation bill. For the annual appropriation for national park is $89,418,000, almost equal to the $100,000,000 vetoed for parks in and around big cities.

How They Voted
Here is the significant vote of the wide-open space Senators:

Senator Case, who led the fight against eastern open spaces, has the famed Wind Cave National Park, 28,053 acres in his state, plus the Bad Lands National Monument, 99,907 acres, and the Jewel Cave of 1,275 acres. They get a total appropriation from Uncle Sam of $344,213.

Sen. George Smathers of Florida, the President's golfing partner, who voted against open spaces, helped create one of the biggest national parks, Everglades, with 1,301,327 acres. It gets an appropriation of $1,095,057.

Sen. Wallace Bennett, Utah Republican, who argued against open spaces for cities, has the Bryce Canyon, 36,010 acres, and Zion National Park, 130,452 acres, in his state: appropriation — $1,307,747.

Senators Church, Democrat, and Dworshak, Republican, of Idaho, both voted against open spaces for cities, yet have the biggest national park of all, Yellowstone, 2,213,207 acres, alongside their state, readily available to any Idaho residents.

Sen. Hiram Fong, Republican of Hawaii, who voted against open spaces for cities, has, in addition to Hawaii's lovely beaches, 196,041 acres of national park in Hawaii.

Senators Ervin and Jordan of North Carolina, both Democrats, ganged up against big cities, yet have the Great Smoky Mountains National Park with 509,148 acres as part of their state. Its annual appropriation, largely paid by eastern taxpayers, is $3,041,301.

California has some of the biggest and best-known national parks of all—Yosemite with 758,042 acres; King's Canyon with 453,768 acres; Lassen Volcanic Park with 105,106 acres; Sequoia with 385,419 acres. The taxpayers shell out $5,611,986 annually for upkeep. Yet California's Sen. Tom Kuchel, Republican, voted against open spaces for cities; Sen. Clair Engel, Democrat, voted for them.

That's how the Senate voted in its air-cooled chamber while the big cities sweltered. (Copyright, 1961, by The Bell Syndicate)

The bathing season has opened at the northern beaches and the shark scares will begin. Some will be genuine. Some will be hysterical. A few will result from friendly porpoises playing in the off-shore waters. Are sharks man-eaters? The answer is yes and no, which is no answer at all.

Last winter, I spent time studying sharks in sub-tropical waters. They range in size from new-born lemon sharks (18 inches) up to the whale shark (70 feet). There are many families of sharks, but most of them are colored blue or gray and all of them show a dark triangular fin (dorsal) above the surface.

They are slow swimmers with broad blunt heads and huge mouths on the underside. The position of the mouth forces the shark to turn on his side to attack or to eat, unless he can get above the food. The teeth are strong and shaped conically in separate rows. The jaw muscles are powerful, so that when the mouth slams shut, the teeth exert a crushing effect on bone and flesh.

The slow swimming speed makes the shark a scavenger. He sees fat fish ahead, but his mind is as slow as his pace and, by the time he decides to attack, the fat fish has fled in panic or a swifter fish has beaten the shark to the food. Some deep water sharks feed on plankton, the vegetation of the sea, because they are too slow for live food.

Nature has compensated the shark for his feeble wits and slow pace. He can live for six months without food. His liver is the greatest storehouse for vitamins ever devised. However, when hunger hits him, the shark becomes panic-stricken and he will eat tin cans, rope, anchor chain and wooden plank.

He will also eat his brother. This is the dangerous time for man. No shark is, per se, a man-eater. That is, he does not hunt man as a delicacy. However, when he is panic-stricken, he will attack anything smaller than himself and, if he sees it move, the shark feels that it is edible.

On the west coast, dead tiger sharks have been found with 100-pound sea lions in their stomachs. The tiger shark has been called a man-eater, but he is too big (40 feet) to get close to a beach and, if he eats a man, the victim must have been in deep water.

No grown shark will brave breaking surf. If swimmers remain inside the line of foaming crests, they are safe because the shark knows that if he gets caught in the breakers, he will be tossed up on the sandy beach.

Captain Bill Gray of the Miami Seaquarium devoted much time to explaining the habits of fish, and we went aboard the 70-foot Seaquarium boat to catch sharks off Miami. He wanted them as specimens and he wanted them alive. Bait lines had been dropped the day before and the little flags could be seen dancing on the surface 3½ miles off the beach. The boat has a deep well aft, big enough to accommodate eight or ten sharks, and a trap door below the tailfin.

The big boat pulled up to each bobbing flag, and men in orange weather jackets and shorts pulled the Manila line up. There were one or two sharks on each one and, as they were pulled toward the trap door, the sea was white with foam. The line was drawn under and in and the shark came in to the well on the hook, snapping and thrashing.

Two big mackerel sharks, on a line with a hammerhead, had eaten the hammerhead. Only the bony structure of the head remained on the hook, the radar antennas out in front with two eyeballs set in the ends. Unfortunately, he had been caught on a hook above the others, so that they could attack him, but he could not fight them.

Fred Grimsey made some color movies as seven of them were brought in. Then the boat headed back to Biscayne Bay. At the Seaquarium, the boat backed up to a water gate. When it was opened, the sharks were prodded with poles and swam into a long narrow moat. The hooks had been removed from their mouths. Fish have no sensory nerves and do not feel pain anyway.

Will they eat a human being? Yes and no. I have seen men get into the shark run and grab a sick one by the fins and walk him up and down to keep water running through his gills. The men were not attacked. These, however are well-fed sharks.

When a shark is hungry, he will attack the legs of a swimmer—not because it is a man, but because it looks like food. However, once he tastes human flesh, he will be back to the beach again and again, looking for more swimmers. He develops a taste for humans.

Besides, the shark finds that they are slower than he, and easy to catch. It is best to keep away from all of them—tiger, mackerel, lemon, and loan. . .

GREAT LAKES SAGA

WAVE-LASHED. Violent wind-whipped storm on Lake Superior sends waves, 15 to 20 feet high, crashing against the ore freighter "James A. Farrell." Storms of this nature generally break-out during early spring and fall almost bringing lake shipping to a halt.

With open waters and a full season ahead, shipping on the Great Lakes is moving again.

From now until November, about 250 iron ore freighters, oil tankers, cement carriers, grain vessels, passenger vessels and coal carriers will be plowing through the lakes, loading and unloading their cargoes at the big lake ports. Winter, with its ice and bad weather conditions, had halted this.

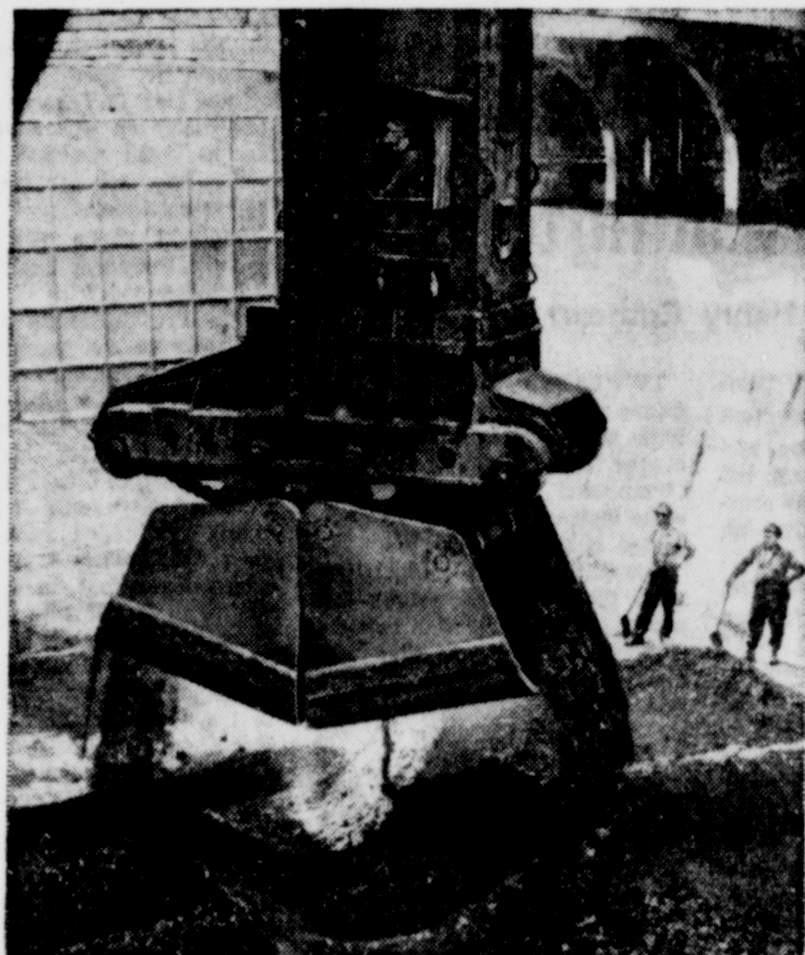

One of the veterans of these seasonal runs is the "James A. Farrell," a 600-foot-long iron ore freighter with a trip cargo capacity of 13,000 tons and a crew of 34. The ship is pictured here on one of its lake trips.

The Farrell has a regular schedule. It stops at the lake ports of Superior, Wis., Two Harbors and Duluth, Minn., to pick up the ore hauled by rail from the Mesabi iron range of Minnesota, and carry it down to the steel mills at Chicago, Gary, Ind., Lorain, O., and Buffalo. It also carries coke, coal and limestone, all needed in the making of steel. The average round trip takes about six and a half days. It will haul some 400,000 tons during a season.

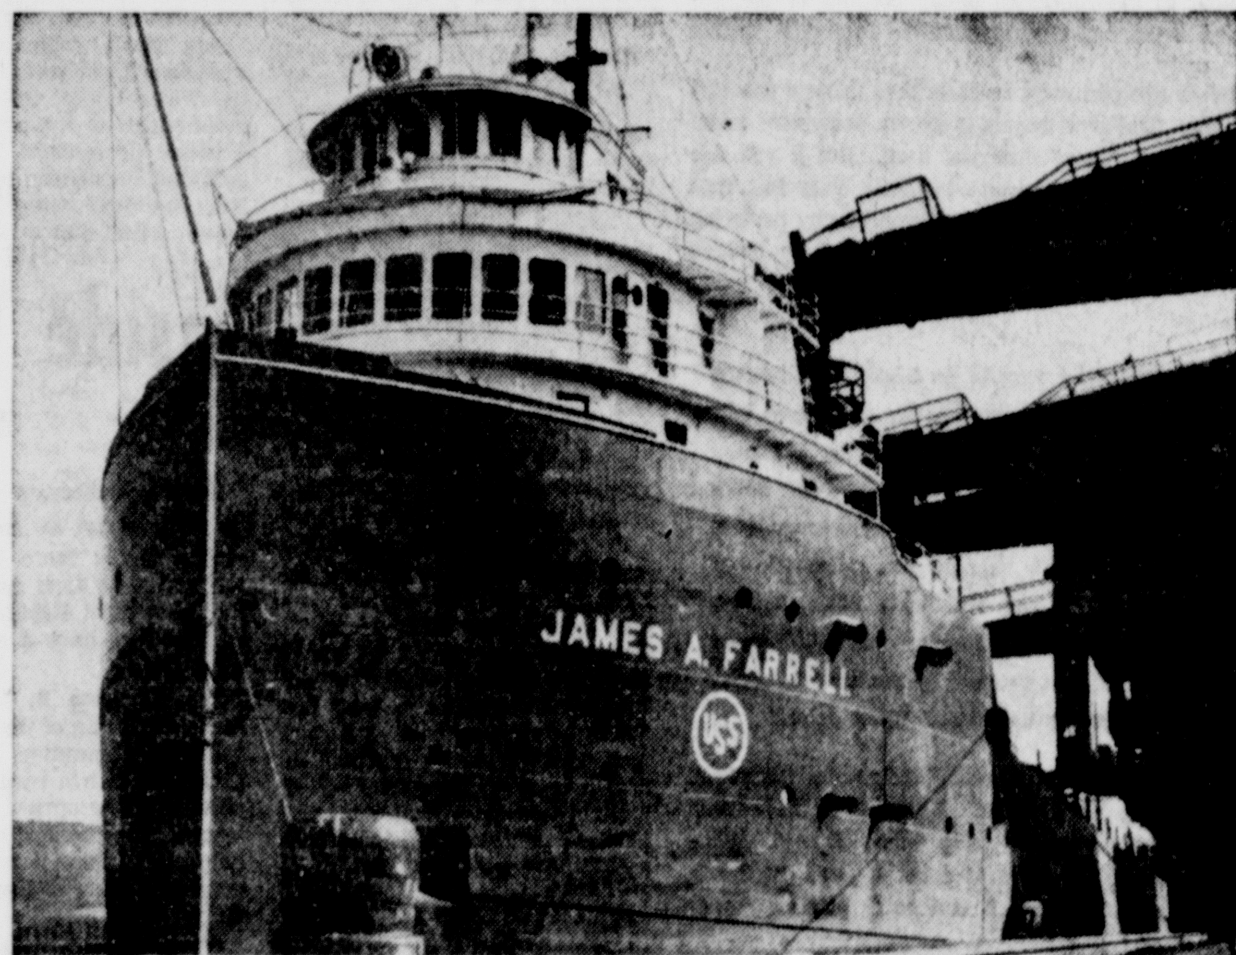

For the crew members it's a long, tough grind—two four-hour shifts a day, seven days a week, and no home leave until November.

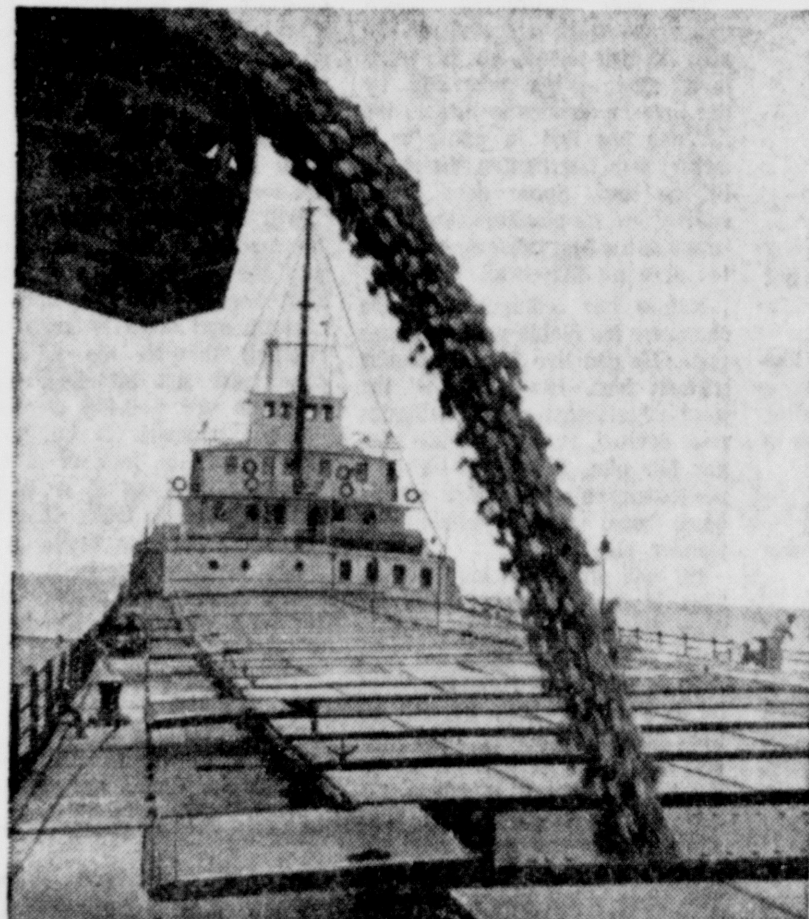

Deckhands are lowered over freighter's side to handle the mooring lines as ship prepares to enter the locks at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.

Giant machine scoops out the ore from hold. Operator then raises up machine through hatch and dumps ore on dock.

Ship stops to unload its 13,000-ton cargo of iron ore for steel plant in Gary, Ind.

Limestone is loaded into hold of the Farrell at Cedarville, Mich., for shipment to steel mills in Chicago. Stone is one of raw materials used in making of steel.

Supply boat "Ojibway" meets the Farrell. Crane lifts the supplies, mostly groceries and maintenance equipment, onto deck of freighter.

Off duty, crew member pours coffee in galley, while another catches up with his reading.

Three Jaycee Net Champs Will Be Crowned Today

Sitter, Allison, Hedrick In Finals; Play Starts At 10

Champions in three divisions will be crowned today on the North End courts as the Jaycee Junior Tennis Tournament draws to a close.

John Sitter and Kent Allison yesterday advanced to the finals in the Senior Boys Division while Tom Hedrick became a finalist in the Junior Boys Division.

Sitter won over Tim Nelson, 6-4, 6-3, and Allison disposed of John Eyler, 8-6, 6-1.

Hedrick eliminated Bob Milberg, 6-0, 6-0, and will play Jim Klosterman in the championship match today.

Starting at 10 a. m. today Cheryl Pence will play Sharon Kasecamp for the girls championship.

At the same time, Hedrick will meet Klosterman for the junior boys crown. Following these two matches Sitter will tangle with Allison in the senior boys final.

On Friday, the winners and runners-up in the two boys divisions and the victor in the girls division will travel to Western Maryland College, Westminster, to compete in the Maryland Jaycee Junior Tournament.

Winners in the state tourney will go to Tulsa, Okla., to participate in the Jaycee International Tournament to be held late in July.

Ronnie Chapman is director of the tournament which ends here today.

Allyn Will Succeed Ailing Bill Veeck

CHICAGO (AP)—Arthur C. Allyn Jr., who June 11 bought majority control of the Chicago White Sox, Tuesday was named club president at a stockholders' and board of directors' meeting.

He succeeds the ailing Bill Veeck, whose resignation as president was accepted by the 54 per cent holding group represented by Allyn.

Allyn bought out his two erstwhile majority stock partners, Veeck and Hank Greenberg. Chuck Comiskey, who holds 46 per cent of club stock, is the only other Sox owner.

Jim Briggs, in his first year as baseball coach at Canterbury Prep in New Milford, Conn., led his team to the Housatonic League title. He is the son of Walter (Spike) Briggs former president of the Detroit Tigers.

Dodger Holds Chicago Cubs To Two Blows

Posts 3-0 Victory, Fans 14 To Boost 1961 Total To 111

CHICAGO (AP)—Sandy Koufax, 25-year-old Los Angeles southpaw, became the first National League pitcher to win 10 games as he held the Chicago Cubs to two hits Tuesday to high spot the Dodgers' 3-0 victory.

Koufax (10-3) held the Cubs hitless until Ernie Banks singled with two out in the seventh. Don Zimmer got the second hit with one out in the ninth.

Koufax fanned 14, bringing his league-leading total to 111 strikeouts.

Catcher John Roseboro's third straight hit, a single, ignited the game's only scoring spurt—a three-run seventh inning which saddled starter Glen Hobbie with his eighth loss in 12 decisions.

1964 Olympic Dates Are Set

Innsbruck, Tokyo Chosen As Sites

ATHENS (AP)—The International Olympic Committee Tuesday agreed on the dates for the 1964 winter and summer Olympics, then ran into a squabble over the program for the summer games in Tokyo.

The IOC, holding its annual meeting here, decided to hold the winter games from Jan. 29 to Feb. 9 in Innsbruck, Austria, and the summer games in Tokyo from Oct. 11 to 25. The summer games will have a rest day after opening ceremonies, so actual competition will not start until Oct. 13.

A program for the Innsbruck Olympics was approved without any real dissent. It included the same sports played at Squaw Valley in 1960, plus bobsledding and luge—one-man toboggans.

But the IOC ran into so much discussion on the Tokyo program that it had to adjourn overnight without making a decision. The Japanese request to drop canoeing and the modern pentathlon while adding volleyball and judo, was the cause of the controversy.

IOC Chancellor Otto Mayer, briefing newsmen on the closed sessions, said he felt the IOC favored retaining the pentathlon and also wanted to limit the Tokyo program to 18 sports.

Rome had 18 sports in the 1960 summer games.

The Japanese said they wanted to drop canoeing and the pentathlon because they were not popular in Asia.

Schwarz Captures Medal In Maryland Amateur Tourney

CHEVY CHASE, Md. (AP)—Scott Schwarz, 19-year old Villanova sophomore from the Country Club of Maryland shot a 67 Tuesday to win the medal in the 41st Maryland State Amateur Golf Championship.

Schwarz' 35-32 was two under par and tied the amateur course record but was four over the pro mark held by Dutch Harrison. Schwarz had three birdies and bogied only the fourth hole where he took three putts to get down.

Nelson Bell, 18-year-old University of Maryland freshman and Jerry McFarren, former District champion from the Manor Club, tied for second with 69's. John Owen of Manor and Bill Gartner of Argyle had 70's.

McFarren meets Ralph Bogart, a seven-time state champion and president of the association in the first round feature Wednesday morning. Bogart had a 73.

Vets Defeat PPG, 1-0, For 10th Triumph

Celanese, K. of C. Win Chair Games

Two singles, a sacrifice and a fielder's choice gave the league-leading Veterans of Foreign Wars tilters a 1-0 decision over Pittsburgh Plate Glass yesterday in a Rucking Chair Softball League game at Allegheny.

The tight hurling duel between winner Floyd "Pete" Elliott and PPG's Bill Thompson was decided in the fifth inning when Jimmy Eckard singled, was sacrificed to second and moved to third on Butch Johnson's single. Elliott then was thrown out at first base as Eckard scored on the fielder's choice grounder.

The triumph was the 10th in 11 games this season for Manager Cecil Grimes' Vets while the Pittsburgh Platers dropped their seventh in 11 decisions.

Rock Ingram and Norm Curtis each had two hits for the losers while Ted Durbin, George McGregor and Johnson paced the Vets' attack with two hits apiece.

In an extra-inning thriller at Fort Hill, Jimmy "Tiger" Angelatta came out of retirement after two years to pitch the Knights of Columbus to a 7-4 victory over the B.P.O. Elks in eight innings.

Angelatta was the winner over Jack "Moon" Stotler when the Knights broke a 4-4 deadlock in the top of the first overtime frame on Don Farrell's single, walks to Norm Sell and Bing King, a sacrifice fly to Bob McGreevey and Pat McKenzie's double.

McKenzie and King paced the K. of C. attack with two hits each while McGreevey chipped in with a double. George Getz had a single and a two-bagger, Leo Rhodes collected two singles and Stotler belted a triple for the Elks.

The K. of C. (7-5) pulled two double plays in the game to run their total to 11 for the year.

The Celanese A.A. kept pace with the Knights by chalking up their seventh triumph in 12 games, an 11-1 lacing of Ritter's A.C. at Celanese field.

Nile Shuck tossed a five-hitter as his teammates handed Odell Warnick his first pitching loss of the year.

The winners coupled a hit, walk and sacrifice for a first inning run, added four more in the fourth on a walk and four singles, then iced matters with a six-run spurge in the sixth.

Ritter's only tally came on a fourth-inning home run by Scarpelli.

Don Harden and Gene Davis each had two hits for the winners. The Loyal Order of Moose belted the C&P Telephone crew, 10-6, in another league encounter at Stitzer field.

Dick Klavuhn was the winner despite giving up 11 hits to the Phonemen.

John Price belted a three-run homer and a single, Klavuhn and Woody Woodson each had two hits for the winners. Crabtree, Kahl, Brown and Mace shared eight of the losers' bingles. The results:

Kansas City A's Sued For $43,750

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The Kansas City Athletics were sued Tuesday for $43,750 alleged to have been due Parke Carroll, the A's former general manager who died Feb. 4.

His widow, Mrs. Clover Carroll, filed the suit in Jackson County Circuit Court against Charles O. Finley & Co., Inc., as successors to the Kansas City Athletics Inc.

Her attorney said the sum was due under a two-year contract Carroll had as executive vice president and general manager. The suit charged Carroll's services were terminated Jan. 1 in violation of the contract.

Water Policies Are Set By City

Supplies Are Available On Unrationed Basis

Long-range water policies were announced by the City of Cumberland last night during a meeting with the LaVale Sanitary Commission.

The policy provides that the Cumberland Water Department will furnish water to all water companies having customers outside the city limits on an unrationed basis for the next four years but that water will be rationed to such customers if there is a shortage of water during the period.

It provides that by December 31, 1965, all customers outside the city will have to become members of a sanitary district, since Water Commissioner G. Ray Light feels it is not the function of a city water department to have a water distribution system and individual customers outside the city limits.

Will Favor City

It served notice that in case of a water shortage, residents of Cumberland and the city's industrial customers will be the last to be rationed.

The policy also provides that the Water Department will, under no circumstances, sell more water than the 16 1/2 million gallons a day which will be the safe yield of the watershed when pumping facilities now under contract are available.

The policy as expressed by Mr. Light in a statement noted the possibility of developing additional water supplies from Town Creek or Wills Creek but stressed that the cost of such extra water would have to be borne by customers outside the city.

Meeting Is Held

The LaVale Sanitary Commission, which was represented by Chester A. Fisher, chairman; Arthur A. Vickers and Lloyd H. Buchanan, members; Gorman E. Getty, attorney, and W. R. Engle, secretary-treasurer, said about 60 per cent of its water is purchased from Cumberland.

The city was represented by Mayor J. Edwin Keach, Water Commissioner G. Ray Light, Finance Commissioner Lucile Roder, City Attorney William R. Carscaden and City Engineer C. R. Nuzum.

The commission said it is studying the possibility of obtaining water supplies which would could be used during an emergency.

Members said they felt the City of Cumberland was trying to handle the water supply problem in a businesslike and proper manner and that a long-range plan was "good management" on the part of the city.

Refers To Ban

The commission said it appreciated the fact the meeting had been called, so mutual problems could be discussed.

Mr. Light announced he was releasing a statement on Water Department policy in addition to the rules and regulations pertaining to outside customers.

During the conference, he explained that the necessity of setting a policy and a study of the situation was forced by requests adding up to almost three million gallons a day were received within one week.

He said all of the requests added up to more than the safe thought the best thing was to stop until a plan could be worked out.

Supply Is Ample

The City has ample water, City Attorney William R. Carscaden said.

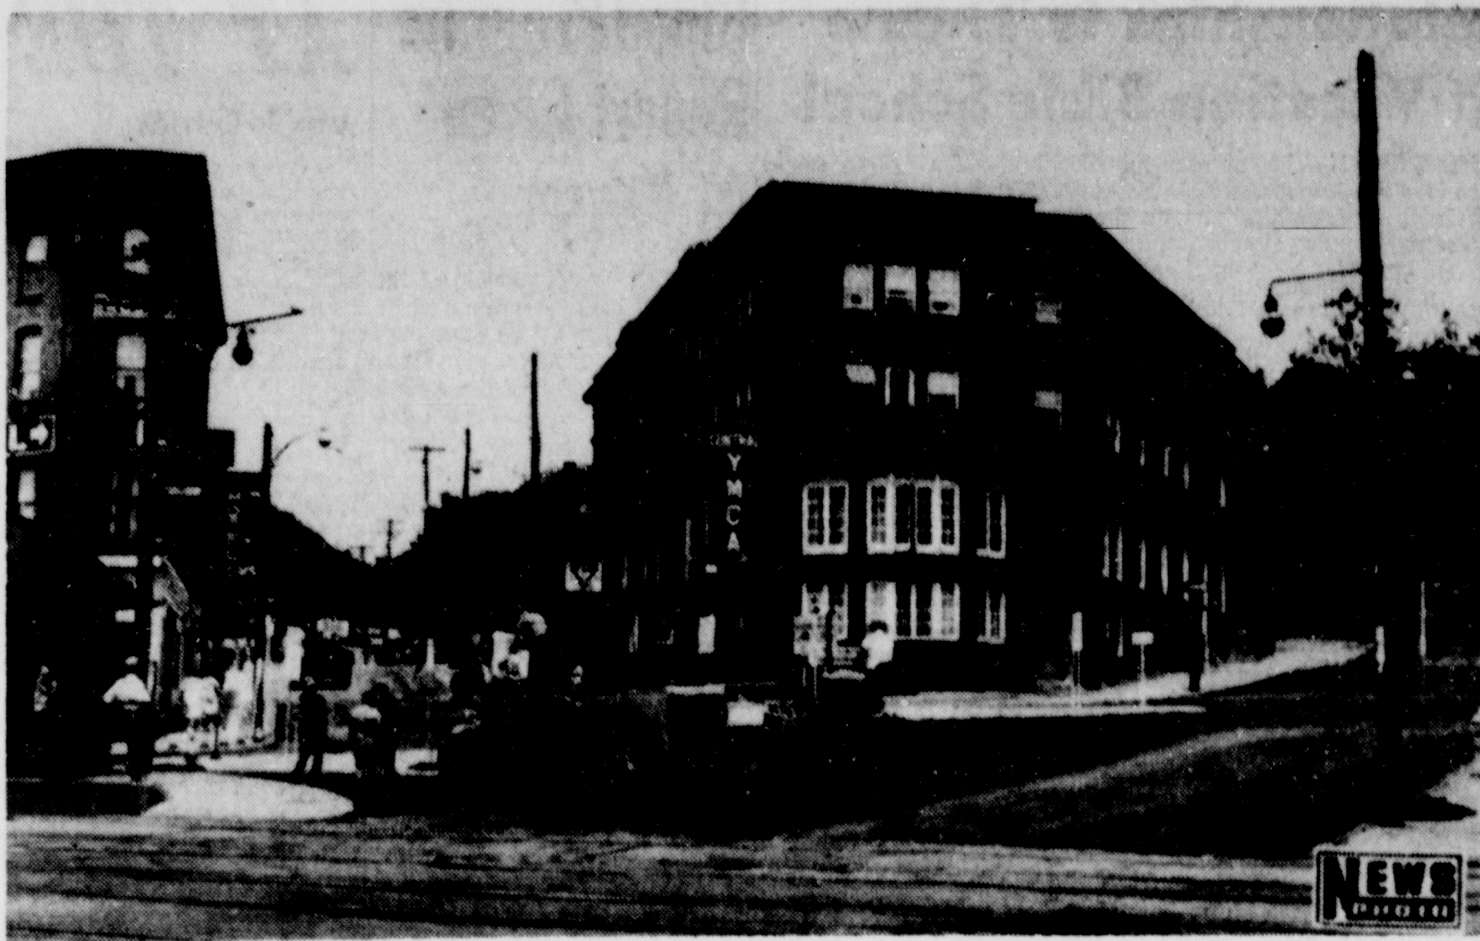

John J. Rowan, president of the Board of Allegany County Commissioners, commended the Mayor and Council on the way it has handled the water situation.

He said the city is under no obligation to serve customers outside the city and said that he hopes within the next 10 days to discuss the water supply situation with the Corps of Engineers.

The policy statement on sale of water to outside customers follows:

WATER COMPANIES

The Water Department will furnish water to all water companies having customers located outside the City Limits on an unrationed basis until December 31, 1965. In the interim period, should Cumberland experience a shortage of (Continued on Page 10)

Intersection Is Resurfaced

Crews of the Cumberland Contracting Company are seen black-topping the Central YMCA intersection. The work began at 7:30 p. m. yesterday and was completed shortly before 5 p. m. A leveling course and a wearing course was placed over worn bricks placed at the intersection decades ago. The contract for the $3,140 project was awarded by the Mayor and Council Monday morning. Police detoured traffic around the busy spot so crews could expedite the work.

Legal Liquor Vote Today In Garrett

Districts To Rule On Recent Bill

Residents of Garrett County will go to the polls today to decide if election districts will authorize the legal sale of whisky.

The polling places will be open from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m. Eastern Standard Time.

A bill enacted during the recent session of the General Assembly provided for a referendum on the issue and voters in the 16 districts will be given an opportunity to decide the question.

The bill states that the sale of whisky is by local option. This means one of the 16 election districts may vote for it and the intoxicants may be sold legally.

In all others, it could be illegal if the voters so decide.

The measure also provides for the establishment of county liquor stores, where all the places selling whisky would have to buy their supplies.

Licenses only would be issued to bona fide restaurants and hotel and to fraternal and veterans organizations. There would be no sales from a bar in a public place properly licensed.

At the present time only beer may be sold legally in Garrett County, and the state's western-most county is the only one where whisky is not legally sold.

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Joseph F. Kaylor, director of the State Department of Forests and Parks, was named by Gov. Tawes Tuesday to head an 11-man committee to develop a master plan for Maryland's forests and parks.

A resolution passed by the recent 90-day session of the General Assembly called for appointment of the committee to assist Kaylor's department in the development of the plan. The present master plan for state forests and parks was completed in 1952.

James J. O'Donnell, director of the State Planning Department, and James G. Rennie, director of the Department of Budget and Procurement, were also named to serve on the committee.

Others appointed to the special committee were Del. William H. Houck, D-Frederick; Sen. Bernard I. Gonder, D-Garrett; Del. C. Clifton Virts, D-Frederick; Del. Charles W. Coss, D-Washington; Sen. Charles M. See, D-Allegany; J. Grahame Walker of Bethesda; Samuel L. Hammerman of Baltimore, and Morris Mechanic of Baltimore.

"I have prepared a list of rules and regulations in connection with the use of City water by customers located outside the City Limits. These rules and regulations will be continued to be studied and, if need be, they will be changed to meet situations as they arise from time to time."

"The Water Department has not changed its thinking in that its first obligation and primary function is to serve the customers within the City Limits. When the City had excess water to sell, there was no objection to supplying water to all customers no matter where located."

Need Modernization

"Many residential areas have developed outside the City and the demands on the Water Department, and future demands for increased water, may exceed the safe yield of the City's present source of supply."

"Most of the water distribution systems located out of the City Limits have been constructed and extended on a patchwork basis and are entirely inadequate to take care of any future development in these areas. Most of the areas would be without an adequate supply of water in case of a major fire since the lines are not of sufficient size for such emergencies."

"Much thought and planning will be necessary in order that these areas have new properly designed water distribution systems so that such system will not only (Continued on Page 10)

B&O President Urges Early Rail Merger

Precarious Financial Condition Cited

By JACK ADAMS
WASHINGTON (AP)—Board Chairman Howard E. Simpson of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad said Tuesday his company is in a precarious financial condition and urgently needs an early affiliation with the prosperous Chesapeake & Ohio system.

Testifying at an Interstate Commerce Commission hearing on competing bids by C&O and the New York Central for control of B&O, Simpson said benefits which might accrue from an association with Central would be years away and B&O "cannot wait that long."

"Its need is for help as soon as possible," he said, "and only the Chesapeake & Ohio can provide this."

Simpson, who is the chief executive officer of his company, testified after C&O President Walter J. Tuohy completed almost two full days in the witness chair.

C&O Aids B&O

Tuohy told the hearing examiner that C&O is already giving B&O a help hand through commitments to supply it with up to 5,000 coal cars, along with new diesel locomotive power.

The C&O president underwent a lengthy cross-examination by attorneys for Central, which wants to bring about a three-way C&O-B&O—Central combine, and by New York authorities, who sought to establish that the port of New York would be adversely affected by a C&O-B&O merger.

Tuohy refused to concede any such effects. He referred many questions along this line to traffic experts he said would testify later.

But he spelled it out in words of one syllable that C&O wants no affiliation with Central at this time, standing on previous statements that such an affiliation would "degrade" C&O securities in view of Central's large debt.

Answering a question by an attorney for the Chicago & Eastern Illinois Railroad concerning possible inclusion of that line in the C&O-B&O combine, Tuohy said this could not be considered now but might be possible at some later date.

Gov. Barron Testifies

The Tuohy cross-examination was interrupted to permit West Virginia Gov. W. W. Barron to testify that his state is giving "emphatic and overwhelming" approval to a C&O-B&O affiliation.

Barron noted that both lines run through West Virginia's coal fields and expressed the view that a consolidation would create jobs in his state's attract new industries.

Simpson, tracing the history of the present proceeding, testified that other eastern railroads became concerned from a competitive standpoint in 1957 when New York Central and the Pennsylvania Railroad announced tentative merger plans—which subsequently were cancelled.

He said there were meetings among executives of C&O, B&O, the Nickel Plate, Erie, Lackawanna, the Reading, and the Delaware and Hudson.

Later, C&O made a stock exchange offer to B&O, and Central followed with a competing offer.

Simpson noted that the result was acceptance of C&O's offer by 55 per cent of the B&O stock.
